

SPECTACULAR GRANDSTAND ATTRACTIONS

"Passing Parade" Guaranteed One of Greatest Spectacles

"The Passing Parade" the spectacular grandstand attraction lives up to all its advance notices. Built as the finest outdoor production yet booked for the Western Canada Class "A" circuit, the light show and stage show at the provincial exhibition will thrill the crowd 'til the end of the season.

First and foremost the setting deserves special mention. The wings extend several hundred feet back from the stage, while the background to the platform is finished in aluminum plating and is illuminated by the colorful balloons. Through the wings are mounted lights, while the 100 watt lamps provide illumination that gives wonderful effects to all of the numbers. A ballet of perfectly drilled dancing girls, beautifully costumed, provide the setting for some of the finest outdoor entertainment seen anywhere.

BEAUTIFUL DANCE NUMBERS

The dance numbers open the first of a series of spectacular features to the revue, followed later by the French Maids who when hundreds of balloons are released into the air. Then comes the "The Passing Parade" which is a program here. The dance of the butterflies is another spectacular number wherein many of the lighting effects assist to enhance the beauty of the dancing.

LARGE-MORGER

Two men who refused to regard the loss of a leg a serious misfortune have literally stepped to the front rank among unique entertainers. They are Frank Morgan, the two-armed man, and his partner, a one-legged man, who together make a grandstand platform cause such a sensation. Large is minus his left leg which he lost at the age of six when he was crawling under some box cars on a railroad near his home in Portsmouth, O. Morgan, who is eight feet tall, wears a heavy wagon in Columbus. His right leg was caught in a wheel and broken above the knee and had to be cut off.

THE FOUR ROBBERIES

This quartet, comprised of three men and one woman, were German and have been naturalized in the United States some ten years ago. They are upstage jugglers, and have only recently returned from a tour to Europe. Clever balancing and juggling was provided for the work while the difficult stunt of balancing while juggling provided a sensational spot in their program. Their windup is a burlesque on the circus, and the high prize which merits it.

FOUR MIDWINTER SONS

Bobby Kahn, Floyd Rogers, Ralph Pearson and Neil Fortune are four masters of rhythm and song. All four have performed over the radio and their numbers are the highlight of the opening program. Considered by Ernie Young as the greatest musical trio ever signed up, the Libanese three comprised of Father Joe and his son and daughter, Bobby and Avia, with rounds of applause with their clever telephone work. This trio provides all of the comedy one could wish for with their fun-making on the evening program. Tommy Lewis is about four feet six inches tall. Henry Hie is over eight feet tall, and "Chick" Stanley is a midget. They have the crowd in laughter from the time they come until they leave the stage.

R. A. Shorten Dead

Richard Alfred Shorten, 67, died at his home on 155 street and 102 avenue, Friday. He came to the city from Duffield two years ago, and has been a resident of Alberta for 16 years. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Clifford and Alfred, and a daughter, Janet, all of Edmonton. CANADA LIFTS SANCTIONS ON ITALY NATION

Restrictions Against Trade Will Be Removed on Wednesday

OTTAWA, July 13.—In conformity with League of Nations recommendations, Canada will lift economic sanctions against Italy from Wednesday. Three orders-in-council imposing the trade restrictions were repealed at a cabinet session last week, to take effect July 13. The effect of sanctions lifting will be to remove all restrictions against Canadian-Italian trade.

Goods arriving in Canada before Wednesday will be subject to the embargo, but after that date will be free from it. The league co-ordination committee on July 6 adopted a resolution proposing that all countries should remove sanctions against Italy on July 13. Canadian delays in the league supporting the resolution.

Sanctions were applied against Italy by means of three orders-in-council which will disappear next Wednesday.

YOUTH WILL PILOT PRIEST

Howard was in Montreal and flew over the pilot which he is being assembled here. Father Schulte, famous flying priest, of Germany, and organizer of the Miss. a missionary society will make the journey in a few days. Howard will alternate with him at the controls.

TRADE ACCORD IS EXTENDED

MOSCOW, July 13.—Soviet Russia and the United States have agreed to extend for another year the trade accord under which Soviet purchases from the United States more than doubled in the past year. Charge d'Affaires L. H. Henderson, who negotiated the long-term trade accord, announced today, Saturday confirmed a Soviet proposal the U.S.S.R. would buy at least $200,000,000 in United States goods in the next year, beginning July 13. Soviet imports from the United States last year amounted to $27,000,000. Exceeding the $200,000,000 provided in the agreement signed by American Ambassador William Bullitt and Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov July 13, 1935.

Internationally Known Churchman Dies In Hospital

Rev. Dr. S. Parker Coleman, 71, the Englishman who left the Shropshire mines to become internationally known as a churchman, died in hospital here Sunday. The former president of the Federal Council of Churches of the United States died in the presence of members of his family. He was stricken with pneumonia during a lecture last Sunday. Blood transfusions and an oxygen tent had temporarily prolonged his life following an emergency operation last week. Born at Wellington, Shropshire, on December 18, 1864, Dr. Coleman came to the United States in 1890. His eloquence as a preacher brought him a continually growing time and his voice became known to millions through his Sunday afternoon sermons. Always he preached peace and tolerance.

What To Do

I am planning a friendly cruise. Will you kindly tell me the proper way to pack my suitcase? What should I do to this dress to prevent them from wrinkling too much? What should I put in the pockets of the suitcase? Thank you very kindly. A READER. Answer—It's a very good idea to write out a list before you start packing, then lay out everything and check off the list as the articles go into the suitcase. It will save you the headache of discovering later that the belt for your blue dress is still at home and you miss a very nice place. Stockings, gloves, handkerchiefs, and all the small articles in the top and side pockets. Many packers the layers of tissue paper for keeping dresses smooth, others find this cardboard like the construction stores use very satisfactory to prevent dresses from wrinkling. Old fashioned travelers who advise leaving out the tissue paper and saving the extra space for several more dresses. Shave up in the bottom of the suitcase and should be secured in shoe bags or be wrapped in tissue paper. And if you suitcase is fitted with a zipper, zipper, this will carry the necessary tight pressure very safely. For a time cruise you may travel more comfortably with a hat box and overnight bag, keeping your suitcase for lingerie, suits and dresses.

FOR YOUR EYES

Manners Of The Moment

By JEAN LYON

Business of the moment

Pulling Nephews out of ash
It takes two sets of manners to get along with other people's children. One is the set which you use when you visit them in their own home. That one is indulgent and jolly and gift bearing. The other is the set which you use when you are satisfied with the responsibility of watching over them for a day or an hour. For that you need a firm tone of voice, a severe look and a decisive manner. The firm tone of voice and the severe look come first. If your little charge gets into trouble despite them, then you need to make use of decisive tone to hush the effects of his misdeeds from his parents. The nephew, for example, who goes diving into ashtrays to retrieve old straw hats, can't always be stopped by a firm tone of voice. Once in, he has to be gotten out. And a dainty niece who keeps on the tick, once out, he has to be fixed up. A whimpering

The Wise Woman Will Shield Her Eyes Well

By GLADYS GLAD

Usually, when a girl stepped out in dark glasses in past years, she was suspected of being the possessor of a pair of black eyes. That however, is an old notion that vanished long ago. Now, the old-time glasses. For nowadays, all sensible girls wear dark glasses in the summer. It is a measure of protecting the beauty of their eyes. It is common knowledge now, you know, that the eyes must receive some protection from the glare of the summer sun, if they are to retain their loveliness.

Some of our young women realize this fact perfectly, and being aware of this, in addition to donning dark glasses, they also smother a bit of cream on all around their eyes prior to going out into the sunshine. You see, while the sun can penetrate the dark glasses, the heat can, and heat alone is enough to parch the tender skin around the eyes.

However, I know that many of the sweet young things who patronize the beaches and summer resorts have a great dislike for hiding their eyes behind dark glasses. Any girl who has a sunny pair of eyes wants to be sure that the beach sheels get a good look at them. And so she entirely disregards the fact that those orbs of hers will impress the sheels at all if the neglect them.

GLARE HARD ON EYES

The sun's glare on bodies of water, on silencing beach sand, on smooth roads and on any like reflective surfaces, has a tendency to irritate the eyes and cause the formation of squint lines about them. The direct rays of the sun tend to dry out the sensitive under-eye tissues, also, and accentuate any lines and wrinkles already formed.

Some soap and water and a little cleansing fluid has to be used on him before he looks his sweet innocent self again.

The children who aren't nephews are sometimes harder to manage. They may have different standards than your own. Sometimes you can meet them on their terms, but if they are stubborn, you can be stubborn. If they are noisy, you can be noisy, too, can wear them down that way. It takes stamina, though, and a certain amount of patience. Once in, he has to be gotten out. And a dainty niece who keeps on the tick, once out, he has to be fixed up. A whimpering

JOAN BLONDELL
Noted for her large, expressive eyes.

To give the eyes proper protection, you should shield them as much as possible from the sun's direct rays. Wear large-brimmed hats. The shadows they cast will give your eyes some protection, anyway, and they're now considered very smart. Utilize beach umbrellas when you can. And why not try those dark glasses. They're no longer considered freakish. And if a celebrity can get away with them, why shouldn't you be able to?

It is also a good plan to smother a bit of cream around your eyes before exposure to the sun's rays. If you dust a bit of powder over the cream, the grease won't be obvious. And it will certainly help to prevent squint lines, and to keep your eyes fresh and youthful in appearance. GLADYS GLAD.

What New York Is Wearing
By Helen Williams

By Helen Williams

Maybe daughter will like to see this cool little cotton print dress herself.

This model calls for the minimum of material. As for the making, one glance at the illustrated diagram reveals the secret. It calls for one piece of fabric from shoulder to hem. The brief sleeves that cut in on the body, have turn-back cuffs. A hint of French lines is created by the pin line. The patch pockets are decorative and useful.

Daughter need scarcely worry whether yellow and white dotted ditsy, pink lines-like cotton with white trim or navy blue and white glazed chintz print should be chosen. Why not have one of each?

Style No. 3113 is designed for sizes 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 required 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch material.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Self-Invited Week-End Guests Usually Are Not Welcome by Relatives, Especially Those Who Go to The Country and Make a Nuisance of Themselves

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We live on a small farm, one hour's ride from the city. We are a young couple of small means and have three little children. We work hard to try to get along and do our own thing every luxury. But here is our trouble: Friends and acquaintances, who are fond of us and enjoy them, will descend on us fifteen or twenty strong and eat up a week's supply of provisions, so by Monday we don't even have milk for the children. We have wrestled with this problem for three or four years without finding any solution for it. I do all of my own housework and it keeps me tied to the range who are so lavish in their praise, but not with their money of the good food I give them. What to do?

FARMER'S WIFE.

Dorothy Dix

Answer: If I were you, I should write a little note to each and every one of your self-invited guests and tell them that on account of the depression you have decided to earn a little pin money by serving meals over the week-end and so much for dinner, so much for lunch, and so much for supper, and that you hope very much that they will give their patronage. Make it plain to them that there will be no free lat and be sure to present your bill to the very first ones who come to or who tell you that it is no bill on your part, and that they have to pay for what they eat.

Get busy at once with your announcement that you have turned your house into a pay restaurant. It is a time when guests are abroad in the land and when everybody who lives on a farm or has a country place is the predestined victim of those who want to eat and drink without money and without price. They are the worst form of the robbing.

Why people who in the winter and in town would never dream of inviting themselves to your house to visit or to a meal, now they are capable of the impudence of taking along with them a lot of their family and friends and superimposing them upon your hospitality, is almost too common a crime against decency in the summer, nobody knows. But they do.

Everybody who lives out of town has experienced the sudden passion of affection and longing to see them that arises in July and August, the breath of their city friends and relatives who write or telegraph that they can't be parted from them any longer and to meet them at the 6:30 train on Saturday night, and that they are coming for a long stay.

And everybody who has a country place knows the awful sinking that comes in the pits of their stomachs when they see a crowded automobile drive up and seven or eight people descend therefrom demanding hospitality and food. They are just starved and any little thing will do provided it consists of a square meal. And they have brought along with them their families and the Smiths, whom they know you are just dying to meet and to feed.

Usually the hostess gives these strangers a welcome that is cold enough to freeze the cocktail in their glass, but it does no good. No worded speech penetrates their armor. They have saved their money, and they are passing by all of the hot-dog stands and restaurants and they are not going to eat there. They have saved their money, and they are passing by all of the hot-dog stands and restaurants and they are not going to eat there. They have saved their money, and they are passing by all of the hot-dog stands and restaurants and they are not going to eat there.

Handwriting Your Children - Analyzed

By MURIEL STAFFORD

Among the many questions I am asked regarding personality and character reading from handwriting there is one I am asked very frequently. "What good will it do me?" is the question in brief.

The amount of benefit a person derives from his analysis depends upon him. He can have an analysis of his handwriting made simply as an interesting pastime or it can be an important thing to him. It is to do some later he needs only to apply the knowledge called to his mind.

You may think, "But I know the kind of person I am." Perhaps you do, to a certain extent. We all have our blind spots.

Most persons take themselves for granted. That is perfectly natural. It is rather like living in the same house all your life. You are so used to its imperfections they need to be called to your attention before you even notice them.

You may realize you are extremely reserved without actually realizing the fact or considering the effect it may have upon your life. You may realize you are a bit of a worrier and never had realized the trait might be keeping others from properly understanding you.

MISUNDERSTOOD
Your friends and relatives are not likely to suggest a change. If they do you may be indignant and feel that you are greatly misunderstood. Some times they are wrong in their interpretation of your action.

An unbiased analysis of your handwriting will soon tell whether you are carrying some of the best of your hair to the hairdresser. It is the mirror of the soul. It is the mirror of the soul.

HARRY KINLOCH DEFEATS ALBERTA'S CRACK SWIMMERS

PROOKING THEM OVER

By JACK KELLY
Mary McConkey Must Find $200—
Share of Trip to Berlin—
Fund Opened at Mike's

Only one Alberta athlete has won a place on any of Canada's Olympic teams and that is Mary McConkey, Edmonton's queen of the water lanes. She has done her best in making the team, and taking the trip to Montreal on a shoestring which undoubtedly had a lot to do with her not making better time than she did in the 100-yard dash, before Mary can sail for the Olympics with the rest of the Canadian swimming team, she must find $200. Mayor Joe Clarke received a wire announcing this fact Saturday. Mary can't raise that sum herself so it is up to the good sports—and there are plenty of them—in Edmonton to make up the objective.

Mayor Clarke, that whom there is no more ardent sportsman, lost no time in getting a fund started. He dug into his pocket, produced $25 and asked John Michaels if he would take care of the collections. Mike is just as keen a sportsman as his Worshipful Worshiper, and is helping along Edmonton athletes and he not only agreed to handle the collections, but matched the mayor's donation with another $25.

Immediate action is imperative, for the $200 must be wired to Montreal by Tuesday morning in order to allow for reservations to be made on the Olympic liner which sails the following day. Any contribution, large or small, will be gladly received at Mike's News Stand. Mary McConkey has trained hard and faithfully for years. She has won Dominion records and done a lot to keep Edmonton in the spotlight. These Olympics are her one big chance to really get something worthwhile out of swimming. It is also the big chance of every Edmontonian to show his or her appreciation of Canada's greatest athlete. She will be the pride of the city in individual competition when the athletes of the world gather together at Berlin.

It is not a large sum that is needed and it is the only contribution toward Olympic expenses that the city can make. It will be asked to make, if Mary McConkey can not sail Wednesday through lack of $200 it will be the first time that this city has ever let down one of its champions. Make your ante, give the girl a break, and remember the money must be ready by Tuesday morning.

Calgary Enters Select Squad

Report from the south are that Calgary will not be sending a very large group of shotmakers north this week for the provincial golf championship at Mayfair here, but the men that are coming are all mighty serious title contenders. Steve Vickers, who has won the Alberta crown three times, 1932, '33 and '35, has been in Edmonton for several weeks sharpening up his shots. If he wins the title this year he will set a new provincial record for four wins which no other golfer has yet achieved. If the draw works out right, there is a possibility that Vickers may again tangle with Bobby Proctor in the final. They have battled together for the championship in three of the last four finals with the Calgarian winning twice and Proctor once.

Among the other Calgarians entering the tourney will be Duane Barr, who beat Vickers in May for the championship of the southern city. Billy Hudson, winner of the Red Deer title, Charlie Grant, Tom Elliott, and Basil Goodrich. In addition Jack Cuthbert, Griff Evans and Bobby Mills will be shooting for Calgary in the open event.

From the Edmonton end there will be a big field of contestants and all of them plenty tough to take. Henry Martell and Bobby Proctor are probably reigning favorites just now for the provincial, but shortshooters as Starkey, Shapton, Burns Martell, Doug Kilburn, Tommy Vickers and Whit Matthews can not be overlooked or under-estimated. All are potential threats.

Hit and runs were worth a dime a dozen Sunday afternoon at Boyle Street Park as National Home and Empire Hotel put on a merry old slugging in a scheduled

Renfrew Amateur League game

Topping the hit-biting festival was National Home who went down the Empire in a game that did everything from a hard old hit to pure pitching and the best of the game.

THIRTY-SEVEN HITS

Thirtysix hits, many of them extra-base blows, rang off the batting of both teams. Solid base hits were being rained, and despite the fact that the lead was from side to side the score was close most of the time.

Empire were first to break away having an 8-1 margin after the third inning, but the Nationals scored four runs in the fourth and then in the fifth to tie up the count. The teams were even at the end of the fifth inning, and the Nationals were getting three runs in each of National pulled ahead for the margin.

The best Nationals could do in the last four innings was to run in each of the eighth and ninth frames.

HEAVILY BLASTED

Twice were heavily blasted first it was Willie, then Lutz and finally Thompson who were drubbed by the Nationals. George of the Nationals, who was also hit heavily, but he managed to weather the storm as his mates did not. The Nationals were

Wally Tere and Kenny Williams were the heaviest hitting bats for the winners. Tree got four in all, including a home run in four, while Bo Parker, J. H.

Hennin, Abe Grastick and George

Abner each had a brace of hits.

Jim Kelly and Freddie Williams were the best reason for the Empire rally. Boss Kelly had four attempts, while Williams had three for five hits.

Frank, Mark, Crutcher and Lorenz each got a hit.

Turn Back Jack Starkey and Johnny Shipley in Good Exhibition Over Mayfair Golf Course

Playing over the beautiful Mayfair course on Sunday afternoon

A. Matthews and Bob Proctor turned back the challenge of Jack

Starkey and Johnny Shipley, to win the Eaton Challenge trophy.

This is the third time the Matthews

Proctor pair has successfully defended their laurels. They won on Sunday by two up and one in.

The golf display was good but not up to the standard which enthusiasts have come to expect from these four crack Mayfair golfers.

Starkey and Shipley were held down at the turn, having dropped the second and the seventh holes.

On the tenth, the winners were another hole on the lead when Jack

Proctor had the four ball.

However, on the next stretch Jack did pull a real shot out of the put to take a birdie and win the match.

After battling to and fro they again Starkey came through and won a half on the hole. The hole left the match pretty close.

Starkey then came through and sunk a nice putt for a birdie.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The old Man in the Moon, right now, is sleeping sound. I wonder how he'll feel if I wake him. Will he be mad? Doty said. "We're tickled pink that we are here, and he might chase us out. I fear, perhaps we'd better wait until he wakes himself." The little moonbeam smiled. Said he, "Oh, just leave this whole world to me. I'll take care of it."

He then took Doty on his knee.

thing to me. It is my job to wake him when it's time for him to shine. "If left alone, he'd sleep all night, and then there'd be no moon in the night. He'd have a nice long sleep and I am sure that he'd feel fine."

"Oh, fine," said Doty, with a grin. "We only wish we could join in." And then the moon's voice rang out, to his victors' delight. "I am a real bright man," said he, "I light the sky up brilliantly. The folk on earth are my friends. They look up to me at night."

(Old Man Thunder appears in the next story.)

Curious World By William Ferguson

The manna of the Israelites is identified as a saccharine substance called Mount Sinai Manna. The substance exudes from the bark of the tamarisk, when the surface of the plant is punctured by insects. It is yellowish in color, and has a honey-like odor.

"No, she came through the cellar. Look at that, will you?" Dallas threw the ray from his electric torch on the opposite wall.

ARIZONA MAN ACE COWBOY AT STAMPEDE

But Canadian Star is All-Round North American Cowpuncher

CALGARY, July 13.—Rangy-looking Earl Thode, colorful rider from Casa Grande, Ariz., was the ace cowpuncher of the annual Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, winning the North American bronco riding championship Saturday after a week of riding wild range horses.

To the Casa Grande cowboy went the R. Hor. R. B. Bennett trophy, a fancy saddle and $100 in money.

KNIGHT SECOND
Harry Knight, Canadian star of the West, was second in the Herman Linder, of Cardston, Alta., after a bronco which included a kick from a bronco's hoof that knocked him unconscious, finished third.

It was Linder Day, though as the week's wild west events ended, Herman, with his brother, won from the southern Alberta ranch country, won four first awards and second, and a third.

BADLY BEATEN
Patched-up at a field first at station and with a badly bruised face, Herman Linder returned to the gluing bronco, which was won by Harry Wainwright, of Montana, Alta., first in the bareback bucking horse event, and in the wild steer bareback riding contest.

WARNER LINDEN WINS
With a cracked collarbone held in an iron brace, Warner Linden, the reaper of the family, swung to the North American championship wild steer decorating contest and the Canadian championship calf roping.

The North American calf roping championship went to Floyd Peters, of Cardston.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By PAUL HARRISON

Only a year ago the major studios were viewing with concern their graying, depleted ranks of leading men. Talents were called in and sternly advised to keep their eyes off cigarette and hooding coats for a while and to bring in some able-bodied males. So the chastened souls were forth into the highways and the byways, the juke joints and the little theatres, the college stadiums and the radio stations, dropping an ever-recurring at the same studio is Patric Knowles. He plays the role of Flynn's brother in "Charge of the Light Brigade."

After listening to the comments of executives and assorted actresses, he said: "I can safely predict that you will be seeing a lot of Mr. Knowles hereafter."

Frank Shields, the former tennis ace, has been around Hollywood for his prime, the 1800's. With him travels his maid Hudson, an eighteen-year-old girl who has spent all her life in the glitter of her studio life.

In a small town where Fields sets up his medicine show—and quiet shell game—Buckley meets and falls in love with Richard Cromwell, a village surgeon who is the son of the mayor. The comedian, seeing money, takes up a plan to obtain for Buckley and himself an unclaimed estate in the town.

He paints the girl off as a misadventure. The plan has succeeded when his plot is uncovered, and Buckley faces a return to the life of the road.

The developments which follow bring a happy ending for all concerned, with Fields strutting his wiles into the distance, searching for new caravans and new syndicates, their pockets bulging with filthy lucre.

Lynne Overman, Catherine Duce, and other stars are outstanding as featured players.

EMPIRE
In "The Moon's Own Home," Walter Wagner's production for Paramount, Margaret Sullivan appears in one of her best roles. As a fiery temperance actress in the comedy-romance which opens at the Empire today, the star has a fine opportunity to display her talents.

Miss Sullivan's portrayal runs the gamut of human emotions from gentle love to fiery hate, from a raging battle to a heart-rending tragedy. All these characteristics are displayed by the star in a most convincing manner.

As the film dramatization of the life of a woman who has been a failure in the past, she has been able to hater her, by regulation.

They fall desperately in love, however, when they meet under the cloak of temperance begins, resulting in a heated quarrel on their wedding night with the bride making out on the bridge.

When they read their efforts to many amusing adventures.

At Miss Sullivan's leading man, Henry Fonda is outstanding in the supporting cast as Henrietta, a little girl who is the daughter of a wealthy man.

RIALTO
Two generations have thrilled to the story of "The Mine With the Iron Door," which one of the most popular novels, now is brought to the screen in vivid realism at the Rialto theatre.

The picture tells the story of a young salesman played by Richard Arlen, who is in high-pressure into buying some Arizona property from the "Mine With the Iron Door," supposedly located on his newly acquired estate.

He is his partner in the venture a dumb detective, humorously portrayed by Stanley Fields.

How the two encounter an old prospector, his granddaughter and an archaeologist whose greed has led to the discovery of gold causes him to lead to an unusual existence, make a thrilling story before the happy ending.

Adventures, romance and mystery are cleverly interwoven in the picture.

Supporting Arlen and Fields are Cecilia Parker, Henry B. Walker, Spencer Chase, Barbara Bedford and Charles Walker.

"Pride of the Marines" is a comedy-drama filmed entirely at the United States Marine Corps in San Diego. It is a thrilling story of a young military private, starring Charles Bickford as the gruff adoptive father, "Red," who is a 10-year-old orphan boy. Love interest is attractively furnished by Florence Rice, who rivals rival star plays with Bickford in the person of Robert Allen.
